

Career Conference To Begin Monday

Interviews Open To Men, Women

By Don B. Towles

A week of intensive study of vocational opportunities for men and women graduates and students will be conducted at the University March 4 through the 8, after a preliminary convocation for women yesterday afternoon.

These conferences for students will be brought to the campus next week by the house presidents' council and Mortar Board, senior women's honorary.

Men Invited Too

The program includes the all-women's convocation at 3 p.m., Feb. 28; the vocational conference on March 4 and 5; an over-all survey of job trends for women on March 6; and Mortar Board's career conference for men and women on March 7 and 8.

Miss Constance Warren, president emerita of Sarah Lawrence college and author of "A New Design In Education For Women," spoke on changing trends in education for women at the all-women's convocation.

The vocational conference, under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Storey, head resident of Patterson hall, will include individual talks and round tables by representatives of several selected occupations.

Interviews March 7, 8

Miss Rochelle Gachet, of Alabama college, will survey general occupational trends for women on March 6, and representatives from firms all over the United States will come to the campus to interview men and women for employment on March 7 and 8.

Members of selected occupations who will be on the campus March 4 and 5 to discuss those occupations with students are: Miss Anne Wilson, secretary to W. S. Taylor, dean of the College of Education at the University; secretaries, Miss Ora Lee Abney, Mitchell Baker, and Smith, Lexington, merchandising; Mrs. Effie Star Curtis, Lexington medical technical, medical technology.

Discussion Leaders

Mrs. Freeman Andrews, former supervisor of home economics in the Lexington city schools, home economics; Miss Margaret Wilson, director of the child welfare division, Frankfort, social welfare; Miss Margaret Cantrill, Eastern Airlines, Bowman field, Ky., and Miss Dorothy Ratenhagen, supervisor for hostess selection of TWA, airline work; Miss Jane Haselden, assistant dean of women at the University, languages; Dr. Halbert Leet, Lexington psychiatrist, psychiatry.

Mrs. Elmer Gish, physical education teacher, University school, physical education; Dr. Helen Jeffrey, head of the Department of Chemistry at Transylvania college, and Miss Charlotte Wintz, formerly of National Synthetic Corporation, Louisville, chemistry; Dr. Josephine Hunt, Lexington physician, medicine.

Mr. R. P. Sullivan, traffic manager for the Lexington Telephone company, personnel; Miss Nan Lacey, supervisor of Lexington's elementary schools, and Miss Rebecca Cunningham, fifth grade teacher, Lexington, teaching, and Miss Mary Theobald, Kentucky War Fund office, journalism.

Among firms represented in the interview section of next week's program, according to Mrs. Evans, are Radio Corporation of America, General Motors, TWA, Seagram's, State Welfare department, and Campfire Girls. Men and women who want appointments with these company representatives may sign for them in Mrs. Evans' office in the Union building.

Kampus Kernels

Mortar Board . . . will meet at 5 p.m. Friday in room 205 of the Union.

"Y" . . . meets at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Union.

Sweater swing . . . from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Union under the sponsorship of the Union house committee.

German club . . . meets at 4 p.m. Wednesday in room 302, Miller hall. Tennis meeting . . . at 5 p.m. Thursday in Dr. H. H. Downing's office. University for Life program . . . presents Dr. W. Scott Hall at 6 p.m. Sunday at Central Christian church in the first lecture of the current series.

Glee Club Will Sing 'Alice' Suite

Helen Hutchcraft, Paris, Pianist, Is Featured Soloist

The University Women's Glee Club, under the direction of Mildred Sinclair Lewis, will present their annual concert Sunday at four o'clock in Memorial hall.

Featured on the program will be the Alice-in-Wonderland suite by Irving Fine, composer and teacher on the music faculty of Harvard.

The assisting soloist is to be Helen Gibson Hutchcraft, pianist, of Paris, Ky., a sophomore and music major, at the University.

Adelle Gensamer Dailey, former accompanist for the Glee club, returns this spring.

The program:
To Music, Schubert; Tomorrow, Strauss; With a Water-Lily, Grieg. Alice in Wonderland suite: The Lobster Quadrille, Lullaby of the Duchess, Father William, Irving Fine.

American Folk Songs: I Wonder When I Shall Be Married, Ky. mountain, Bartholomew; Salangadou, Creole Lament, Scott; The Arkansaw Traveler, Falkner, Branscombe.

Prelude in B-flat major No. 21, Bach; Gavotte, Prokofiev; Hungarian Etude, MacDowell; by Miss Hutchcraft.

Dream Song, Stringham; Swing Your Partner "Shvanda," Weinberg; When You Are Gone, Korngold; Song of Love, Schubert-Romberg; Holiday Song, William Schuman.

Simone Heming, Arts and Sciences junior from Lexington, was tapped by Mortar Board, senior women's leadership honorary, at convocation yesterday.

SGA Election Is Wednesday

Eight vacancies in the Student Government Association will be filled at an election Wednesday. Gwen Pace, chairman of the SGA election board, announced. Polls in the Union building will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Constitutionalist Helen Olmstead was declared elected because no independent candidate filed for the commerce lowerclasswoman post.

Students running for SGA must have an all-University standing of 1.3 and must be enrolled in the college for which they are nominated. Terms of members elected Wednesday will expire in March, 1947.

The election for presidency of the assembly along with ten vacancies will take place early in the spring quarter, Miss Pace stated.

Candidates in the election Wednesday as announced by Miss Pace include:

Arts and Sciences: lowerclasswoman, Patsy Burnett, constitutionalist, and Cecilia Florence, independent; upperclasswoman, Betty Grote, constitutionalist, and Pat Clark, independent; lowerclassman, John Crockett, constitutionalist, and John Violette, independent; upperclassman, John Young, constitutionalist, and Gene Whicker, independent.

Agriculture and Home Economics: lowerclasswoman, Ollie Lee Hayes, constitutionalist, and Kay Guion, independent.

Law: man-at-large, John Hopkins, constitutionalist, and Arnett Mann, independent.

Graduate school: man-at-large, Carl L. (Hool) Combs, constitutionalist, and James Trice, independent.

Engineering: lowerclassman, Clayton Powers, constitutionalist, and Bob Ingram, independent.

Assemblyman To Speak To Y

Charles W. Anderson, Jr., Louisville, the only Negro serving in the Kentucky General Assembly, will speak to Upperclass Y at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Y-Lounge.

Anderson was the author of the bill passed by the house in 1943 to admit Negroes to take graduate and professional courses at all state-supported schools. The bill however died in the committee room of the Senate and did not pass both houses. Anderson has unsuccessfully reintroduced the bill at each succeeding Assembly session.

Representative Anderson has taken an active part in the Kentucky Commission on Negro Affairs. He was one of four to compile a survey on the conditions of Negroes in the state of Kentucky which the Courier-Journal stated was "the most far-reaching, most revolutionary and yet most obvious recommendations for improvement of race relations that ever have come out of the South."

Fleishman Will Talk

Betty Lee Fleishman, journalism senior, will present a paper on Zionism at the Philosophy club meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday in room 205 of the Union building, it was announced this week.

Peterson Speaks To Veterans On Club Relations With UK

Organization Backs Present UK Setup

By R. Clayton Roland

Putting the stamp of approval on the present University administration, sending telegrams to the Kentucky senate, talks by Frank D. Peterson, University comptroller, and T. Q. Hall, Veterans Administration, highlighted the Monday night meeting of the University Veterans' club.

Speaking on the subject "Relations of the University and the Veterans," Mr. Peterson explained lack of equipment, manpower shortages and adverse weather conditions were responsible for the delay in the construction of Cooperstown.

Vet Costs Minimized
He said the recent fire would have its effect on the project but the University had taken steps to minimize this. He gave facts and figures to show how the administration was doing everything possible to keep rents and other costs of the veterans project at a minimum and compared these with other colleges.

The immediate response to Mr. Peterson's talk was a unanimous vote of confidence for the University administration and a motion quickly followed and passed to send telegrams to leaders in the Kentucky senate, asking that the appropriations bill for the University not be reduced from the present amount.

Law Library Receives Copy of Polish Laws

Major Beverly P. White, a graduate of the University College of Law in 1933, now with the offices of military government in Stadtkreis and Landkreis Hof-Saale, Bavaria, recently sent to the University law library a copy of the laws of the general government of Poland.

The laws, written in German, were the property of Dr. Richard Wendler, brother-in-law of Heinrich Himmler, and governor general of Lublin, Poland.

Dr. Wendler is being sought for trial for war crimes committed during his term as Gruppenfuhrer of the German S. S.

Major White, now serving as presiding judge of a roving military government court in Bavaria, expects to return to Kentucky to resume his law practice soon.

SuKy Presents Sweaters To 21

SuKy sweaters were presented to 21 new members of the organization at presentation ceremonies held Saturday night between halves of the Kentucky-Xavier basketball game.

Sweaters, which were given on the basis of refreshment sales and "enthusiasm at games," were presented by Miss Betty Ree Rhoads, try-out manager for SuKy, to the following: Frances Horlacher, Helen Triplett, Betty Sue Scott, Ruth Mount, Mary Ann Bach, Christine Whitehouse, Emory Lou Flanders, Ann Word, Margaret Courtney, Frances Farmer, Elaine Chamberlain, Jean Robinson, Louanna Hammons, Mary Thelma Cannon, Fern Jacobs, Nancy Potts, Sue Warren, Charlotte Knapp, Edwin Davis, C. E. Martin and Joe Meers.

Second in a series of talks on "How to Study" will be given at 4 p.m. Thursday by Dr. C. C. Ross in Room 205 of the Union building, according to Everett H. Fairchild, chairman of the YMCA Campus Service committee.

The talks are mainly for students having difficulty with their studies, Mr. Fairchild stated.

Veterans, Notice

All veterans attending the University under Public Law 16 are asked to report for an interview to Dr. A. B. Crawford, training officer of the Veterans Administration, who will be in Room 204 of the Administration building on March 6, 7 and 8.

Dr. Crawford also stated that he will be glad to see any veteran enrolled under Public Law 346 who has questions concerning Certificates of Eligibility and Entitlement, subsistence allowance payments or any other problems that require attention.

'My Morale Is Fine' Says Willis In Speech On Founders Day

"My morale is fine, too," stated Governor Simeon Willis as he opened his Founder's Day address last Friday in Memorial hall.

He carried along the festive mood the students started when President Donovan asked, "How is your morale?" before he introduced the Governor.

Also included on the day's program were an Optimist club luncheon for guests of the University and a 15-minute broadcast by Governor Willis, President Donovan, and H. C. Robinson, president of the University Alumni Association.

Governor Willis in his speech said he was happy that the University had established a Founder's Day, adding that "anything which brings favorable attention to the University is an asset to the state."

Mr. Robinson also spoke briefly and said, "I am glad the attacks proved groundless," referring to charges brought by four University students against the school's administration.

The program at Memorial hall commemorated the memory of Henry Stites Barker, the fourth president of the University. Members of the Barker family were in the audience.

University Rifle Team Makes Higher Scores Than Prewar Champs

The University varsity and ROTC rifle team, under the direction of Coaches Capt. A. E. VonHolle and Capt. E. O. Gedrich, and assistant coach Sergeant E. O. Kinker, has won four matches with Lehigh University, University of West Virginia, Indiana University, and Michigan State. They tied a match with the University of Southern California.

According to the Military department, the team this year is making much higher scores than the UK team that won third place in the nation before the war. The team this year has made higher scores than the team that won the national matches only a few years ago.

The sixteen-man team will meet the Universities of Cincinnati, Maryland, and Michigan this week. All senior units will also meet the Fifth Service Command.

UK To Admit 100 New Out-Of-Staters

Only 100 new out-of-state students will be admitted to the University for the spring quarter, Dean Leo Chamberlain announced yesterday.

The University's student quota is 4,000, and with 3,500 students already, only about 100 out-of-state students can be accepted, Dean Chamberlain said. Four hundred out-of-state residents registered for the winter quarter, he stated.

Students will be given an opportunity to fill out class schedules for the spring quarter before the end of the winter quarter. Dean Chamberlain announced. Schedule books are expected to be available to students at some time next week, and students may turn in schedules at any time until the end of the quarter.

Submit Manuscripts To Literary Group

All women interested in Chi Delta Phi, literary honorary, are urged to submit manuscripts to any member of the group or to Miss Jane Haselden in the dean of women's office.

Members chosen on the basis of their manuscripts will be announced at the women's convocation during the spring quarter.

Dorm Bids Open

Although fire destroyed specifications for a $250,000 men's dormitory, bids for the structure will be advertised for March 10, University comptroller Frank D. Peterson, announced Wednesday. Bids will be opened April 1.

Personal Solicitation Sparks WSSF Drive

University Goal Set At $2,500

By Tom Duncan

Solicitation for personal donations to the World Student Service Fund will begin Monday, March 4, and will continue through Friday, March 8, under the direction of Edna Crawford and Howard Clay Bowles, Ed Bary, chairman of the campus-wide drive, announced today.

$200 Already In

The WSSF goal at the University is $2,500. Approximately $200 was received from a collection at the UK-Xavier game and from the fraternity and independent intramural league finals. A "thermometer" showing the progress of the drive will be placed on the campus.

WSSF, an international and non-sectarian organization, aids students and professors, victims of World War II, in 17 countries. Students of more than 600 colleges, prep schools, and theological seminaries contributed to the WSSF last year.

Personal Canvass

Personal solicitation workers under Miss Crawford and Bowles are: Betty Ree Rhodes and Howard Stephenson, chairmen; Ralph Danford, men's residence halls; John Young, men students living in town; Joe Covington, fraternities; Rosemary Dummitt, sororities; Carolyn McMeekin, women students who live in town; Margaret Dickey, women's dormitories; Margaret Campbell, women's residence units, and Allene Wolf, women commuters. Professor John Kuiper is treasurer of the drive.

Money for the fund must come from personal solicitation, organization projects, and group treasuries.

Art Exhibition Opens Sunday

An exhibition of water color and oil paintings by Raymond Barnhart, assistant professor of art at the University of Kentucky, will open in the Art Gallery in the Biological Sciences building on the University campus Sunday, March 3, and will continue through March 31.

Gallery hours are from 2 to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, daily from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and in the evenings from 7 to 9.

Mr. Barnhart, who teaches painting, drawing, and design at the University, has exhibited in Kentucky and surrounding states. This is his first one-man show in Lexington.

Mr. Barnhart began teaching at the University in 1936. He received his MA degree in fine arts from Ohio State university and subsequently studied under Moholy-Nagy, Josef Albers, and Jean Charlot.

QUESTION: ARE YOU INTERESTED IN A "BIG NAME" ORCHESTRA FOR THE SPRING DANCE?

Jean Paxton, A&S, senior: Why not, this is the night club of the SOUTH!

Jim Wood, A&S, junior: If the Student Union Board can get an orchestra in the Tommy Dorsey category I think it would be a good thing. However, I think the orchestra should live up to the title, "big name."

Helen Dorr, A&S, sophomore: It's a good idea if it works but I think the Student Union Board would sell a lot more tickets if the students knew who the "big name" was to be.

Don Towles, A&S, freshman: Yes, I think it would be all right for a change.

Scotty McCulloch, A&S, senior: Definitely it would be good publicity for the University, and after all this is not a small-town college.

Tommy Gish, A&S, junior: It's a good idea, but is the Bluegrass room large enough for the crowd?

Mary Lillian Davis, A&S, senior: Like to have something big on the campus for a change.

Frances Jenkins, A&S, junior: Let's give the "old night club of the South" at least one big night a year.

Casey Goman, A&S, junior: Yes, if it's a dance instead of a mob scene! If we have a T-D band I hope there's room enough to dance.

Billy Carter, A&S, freshman: Sure, because after all, we are a big University and we should have something new!

Pre-Fab Houses And Temple Ticket Sales Subject Of Three Student Letters To Editor

Madame Editor:

My morale was lowered several degrees Saturday when I went to the ticket office to buy a ticket for the Temple game. I had read in The Kernel that Shively said that tickets would be on sale Friday and Saturday to students, and that after students had bought theirs, then they would be placed on sale to the public. But on Saturday, I was unable to buy a ticket.

I found that only a few tickets—a small section in the armory—had been reserved for students, and that they had been sold out Friday afternoon.

It would not have been too much to expect that the Athletic department issue an honest statement that only a few tickets would be available to students for the game. But perhaps with the aim of increasing student morale, it was said that students would have first chance at tickets.

I fail to follow the reasoning of the Athletic committee. If the purpose of having the Temple game, as it should be, is to make it possible for students to see it, it has failed miserably. It would, from the students' standpoint, be much better to have the game in Lexington, issuing special tickets to those students who wanted to see the game, and then place the remainder on sale to the public. If the purpose of the game is to allow the public to see it, then a statement to that effect should have been issued, and no tickets sold to students. I think that the student body would be willing to stay away from one good game so that the alumni could see it. But the policy, if there is one, followed on the Temple game has led both students and the public to believe that tickets would be available to them for the game.

Respectfully yours,
TOMMY GISH

EDITOR'S NOTE—Mr. Gish was not the only student irritated because he could not buy a ticket for the Temple game. However, the Athletic department and the committee should not be taken to task. The only statement about the tickets was that they would be available to everyone, or that the game was scheduled especially for their benefit. The reasoning of the Athletic committee—which has a student representative—is explained on the sports page. The only policy of the department was to schedule a game and increase the number of reserve tickets so that students would be able to see the game—they didn't reserve enough, which they regret—but there certainly was no premeditated deception. Incidentally, when general sales of the tickets were held on Monday, certain students were seen in line more than once. There never will be enough tickets to go around if this persists—and "scalping" is also a federal offense.

To the Editor,

Mr. Kenneth F. Broomell, housing project manager at Coopers-town, attempted Monday to throw cold water on "over optimism" regarding early completion of the veterans' housing project.

Broomell, in a letter to "All prospective occupants of prefabricated houses," listed certain difficulties with which the University is faced in completing the task at hand. We think his letter gives only the University's slant, and feel publication of this letter to be the medium for rebuttal of some statements contained in the letter.

The over-optimism of which Mr. Broomell speaks ebbed two weeks ago when we learned the University would not take an aggressive attitude toward finishing the project. Confronted with two-and-a-half feet of limestone rock for an undetermined distance, and the complaints, against blasting, of a nearby resident—blasting operations were immediately suspended. But rather than stop the work completely they began chipping at the rock with pneumatic hammers. Experts are agreed that there probably would be no property damage resulting

Vets Offered Chance In Foreign Service

Opportunities to become Foreign Service officers are now being offered to qualified veterans and members of the armed forces.

Veterans who are between the ages of 30 and 41, have been United States citizens for 15 years, have completed approximately three-fourths of the work for a bachelor's degree, and have a reasonable knowledge of French, German, or Spanish are eligible to become Foreign Service Officer candidates.

Further information can be obtained from Dr. Amry Vandenberg or by writing Foreign Service, P. O. Box 592, Princeton, N. J. To receive consideration, applications must be in by June 17.

Paul Oberst has joined the University of Kentucky's Law College faculty to teach two courses inaugurated this quarter for returning veterans. Mr. Oberst, a former University student, was released from the Navy on December 15, 1945.

from the blasting, but the University will not give the go-ahead signal.

A foreman on the project estimated they could chip through the rock in about 30 days, but down that rising over-optimism, prospective occupants, because it will take an additional week or two to build the large manhole and make connections. In other words, according to this estimate, the first group should move into the project about the 7th of April.

But just keep your families wherever they are and IF NOTHING ELSE happens they'll be only two months or so later in arriving here than responsible faculty members estimated BEFORE you enrolled.

Mr. Broomell says, in his letter, that "a considerable number of keys for the houses was lost in the fire at the Service building." This may be true, but a week has already passed in which keys could have been made for the next group of houses to be occupied. Or if no keys can be made give the veteran the alternative of reuniting with his family—and living in a keyless house—or wait until the keys can be made. You will be surprised at the number that chooses to wait for the keys, Mr. Broomell.

"A large quantity of bed springs and other furnishings for the houses was lost in the fire," Mr. Broomell says. But we ask you, Mr. Broomell, how can this be when all the bed springs, furniture, and furnishings remained inside the houses when they were transported here. An inspection reveals that each of the individual housing units has some bed springs, and most of them have EXTRA sets.

Mr. Broomell says, in his letter, that everything possible is being done to rush completion of the houses, but we who have frequently visited the project challenge this statement, especially on the basis of the halt in blasting operations.

We agree with the University's attitude that "things are tough all over," but we don't like the soft-soaping about the extreme strain of the imaginary attempts to RUSH us into our house, when a little dynamite would obliterate the strain.

TWO STUDENTS

EDITOR'S NOTE—Mr. Broomell's letter merely asked that the veterans be patient and understanding of the difficulties which the University faces in completing the pre-fab. But the few impatient ones now fume at the delay caused by the necessity of using pneumatic hammers instead of blasting in completing the sewers.

Dean Jones said Wednesday that a resident close to where the blasting would take place had objected because of possible property damage—consequently the work is going ahead as rapidly as possible in view of the circumstances. What more can be done? Regardless of the opinion of the "experts" referred to in the letter, certainly the constructions must respect individual's property rights.

As for the keys, and the bed springs—those difficulties should be straightened out by the time the houses are ready to occupy. Surely, Mr. Broomell would not have bothered to explain these problems if he had not been anxious to get the houses ready to move into. He must have enough problems without inventing more.

These veterans will probably be satisfied with nothing less than the overnight construction jobs of the army—which are impossible in civilian life.

As one veteran put it in another letter:

To the Editor:
Listening to some of the students at the University one would be led to believe the world's woes have been loaded on their shoulders. It is possible that the University is behind some other institutions in some matters but in the complaints—received department Kentucky leads the field.

How any one could doubt that officials of the University are doing the best job they can and that they have done that job all through the war is beyond me. Particularly in veterans' affairs! Every one connected with the University from President Donovan on down has gone more than half-way to help them get adjusted again, but some of the veterans are the ones who squawk the loudest. They think the University is not doing anything about the housing project in Coopers-town, yet the University has 300 units, more than any other institution in the United States.

Have they forgotten it is impossible to buy a new car and difficult to buy new clothes? Things we took for granted for years are hard or impossible to get and yet they want the officials of the University to perform miracles just because they want a particular thing. It would be much better if they would do something to help themselves instead of complaining all the time. Everybody needs help but it won't accomplish anything to just howl about it all the time. The world owes no one a living and the sooner that fact is realized the better.

Universities are having to turn away students all over the country because they can't house them. The University of Kentucky hasn't reached that point yet. Mr. Park in the hearing about the University down at Frankfort said he hopes some of the persons who are complaining will quit and leave a space for his son to move into so he can enroll in the University. That might not be a bad idea but I don't think the complainers will find conditions at other universities as ideal as they are here. How about building up for a while now? Don't destroy the best efforts the officials make.

CARL "HOOT" COMBS

Life, Liberty, and Pursuit

By Adele Denman

The night was dark, the wind whistled around the library, the Encyclopedia Britannica shivered on its shelves, the newspapers flapped ominously in the periodical room. The click, click, of heels was heard as a frightened co-ed scamped across the bleak patterned, marble floor to the outside doorway. She pulled her coat collar closer about her and stepped out into the bitter night air. She had to wait for a girl friend to come out and she was cold and afraid.

Suddenly a mysterious man in a black overcoat approached her. He began to ask her a lot of strange questions as to who she was, where she came from. "Haven't I seen you somewhere before?" he asked. As she stood there clutching her purse with a vice-like grip waiting for him to pull a gun, she replied that she believed that she had seen him somewhere before too. Will my friend ever come out, she thought to herself as her panic increased. As must be the end of every story, and especially this modern melodrama, the friend appeared just in time. The man said good night and walked away. The co-ed turned her fear stricken face to her friend, who seemed not in the least disturbed.

"What, asked the friend, 'were you doing talking to President Donovan?'"
In Frankfort, commonly referred to of late as the Mecca of morale massacre, there is no paper shortage. Petitions, letters, notes, and records have been flowing into the city at such a rate that the streetcleaners will be kept busy for the next twenty years. In fact, so many records have been required that Frank Peterson walked into the hearing with a file drawer of papers.

LIBERTY:
A little learning is a dangerous thing, and so is too much literature, especially in our English department. The following saga is dedicated to the poor sufferers who have had so much literature that it is ruining their lives and their showers.

SAGA OF THE SHOWER
There is a way to be alone. There is an escape. Take one towel, soap, and rag. Undress and squeeze your sorrows into the narrow niche which men invented to keep from taking a bath. And there you are—Adam before the fig leaf. Alone at last, with time to think—a transcendentalist in his element, reduced to the basic necessity of soap and water.

Turn on the hot water and for a moment enjoy the cutting pain of too much man-made comfort. Then the cold water snaps you back to a reality of nature's wintry bleakness. Turn off both faucets and debate as to whether you will have the hot or cold—a choice between the sweat of Sandberg or the gooseflesh of Poe. You do not think of escaping the pain of either, because you are in a narrow shower—a crack of necessity. If you stepped out you would be before the eyes of the world without the clothing of pride, and clothing (period).

There you stand—wondering? The hot water: Boiling cups into which tea bags are dipped; dishwater where the enslaved housewife dips the greasy aftermath of a cozy domestic repast.

A thought, my goodness you just had a thought—tears are merely scapads which wash the grease from the dishes of the soul. No, that's not a thought, but a Super Suds commercial.

Super Suds, (repeat)
Lots more suds with Super Suds. The cold water: The dew of Shakespeare, the fog of Sandberg, Byron's Hellsponit.

No, no thoughts on cold water either, you wanna get out of the shower.

PURSUIT:
Pinnings these days are Virginia Egbright to Dick Eubanks, and Doris Currence to Jim Hodgett.

Along the line of Guignol are Johnny Renfro and Mac McCormick who go out somewhere after plays every night. Big star Bob Weiner has been going out with Nadine Fennie, a lovely usher.

Any Price and Phil Thompson have had their heads in the clouds as they go flying on week-ends.

Who is the girl with a pink angora sweater (usher also) that John Young has been interested in?

Operators are going mad with the energy of putting through the thousands of calls that Ella Doggett has been receiving from L-Ville.

ABOUT 7,000 miles of coaxial cable will be added to our plant during the next few years. Inside each cable are six or eight copper tubes—each pair a broad communications highway over which two television programs or nearly 500 long distance telephone calls can travel. Giant plow-trains will "plant" much of this cable deep in the ground—safe from storm and fire.

This construction is but a part of our activity in the television field. Now in an advanced experimental stage are plans to link coaxial cables and high frequency radio relay systems to provide a nationwide television network.

Our part in television is the transmission of programs from one station to another. As this new industry develops, the Bell System will be prepared to provide whatever network facilities are needed.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

CAMPUS SCENE

By DORA LEE ROBERTSON

STILL THEY SPEAK OF HONOR:
(Excerpt from an editorial at Auburn)

"Would you think a cynic would advocate an honor system for college students?"

The Vermont Cynic, student newspaper of the University of Vermont, led the way last December in the current trend to editorialize on honor. This paper, in listing the purpose of the honor system, informed students they would have "complete freedom in exams as long as you don't disturb the room! You will be allowed to leave the room during an exam. You will be trusted! If you are sick, you will be able to take your exam at home. If you have to be absent on an exam day, you will be given the same exam at another time."

The Syracuse Daily Orange followed in January with publication of the Honor Code proposed by the honorary societies of Syracuse and said in an editorial:

Institution of an honor system at the University would indicate that the students and faculty had "come of age," that they had realized education was a matter of individual desire and not merely competition for high marks, with no concern for how they were obtained.

Auburn tried the honor system several years ago and it failed miserably. As has been said before, the professors had the honor and the students had the system. This is not a suggestion that Auburn try the honor system again. Auburn is not ready for an honor system. It won't be ready as long as respectable sons and daughters of outstanding people talk freely on dining hall steps of the difficulty they had in seeing neighbors' papers, or tell friends unabashed that they could not get to the notes they had in their pockets. Not as long as officers in campus affairs crib. Not as long as one student sanctions cheating.

FRATS:

AUBURN:

"Wonder what's going to happen when the fraternities on the campus reach an average enrollment, say, of 150 men? Most of the local lodges now have from 50 to 75 initiates and pledges. Many more veterans and pledges will be added to the rosters within the next three or four quarters—before any appreciable number is lost through graduation.

Just think of having to love 150 brothers! Eventually will the chapter have to call roll by squads? Hold meetings in sections A, B, and C? Will the brothers have to wear identification tags so as to be able to call one another by names? And what about such little things as house dances—standing room only? During rush-week will some ingenious group of Greeks hang a banner in front of their dormitory, saying, "Join the Sig Betas (Sea Bees) and See the World"? Frankly, it looks now like "A Million by Christmas."

In the parlor there were three, She, the parlor lamp, and he. Two's enough to have about, So the little lamp went out.

COLLEGIATE WORLD:

Preliminary reports from China show that the buildings of Ginling college in Nanking are still intact, but the furnishings and equipment of the classrooms, dormitories, and faculty residences have been confiscated. Lignan University in Canton and Hangchow college were found quite undamaged. Yenching University has been reopened on the Peiping campus for freshman and preparatory students. Students and professors in the ninety evacuated universities and colleges continue their labors under great privations in improvised quarters, without adequate food, shelter, clothing, warmth, light, books, or laboratory equipment.

WAA News

UK's basketball "Glamour 'Cats," who have won every game in the last two years, ended atop the heap in their latest round-robin, with Berea second and Midway third.

Kentucky's WAA won highest honors in the state-wide "play day" recently. They defeated Nazareth, Centre, Transylvania, Berea, and Union. Pat Shely was high scorer with 73 points and Peggie Reynolds was second with 47.

According to Pat Shely the UK WAA will tour to the University of Cincinnati's play day April 6 for basketball, volleyball, fencing, badminton, table tennis, shuffleboard, swimming and diving contests.

Although giving the students first rights to the SEC tickets may be good for their "morale," the system is a little hard on this column, eliminating most hope for week-end parties. However, the Phi Deltas' love for entertainment has found a way, and these boys and their dates will be guests at an open house Sunday afternoon on their way back from Louisville. To be held from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. the affair will be given by Phi Delt Jack Veatch at his home in Shelbyville.

The fraternity and sorority news in retrospect includes a George Washington party last Friday night in the Card room of the Student Union, given by the Pi Kappa Alpha for their dates. Joe Lawson, Bob Mulholland, and Eddie Brandon were in charge of the arrangements.

Graduates Doris Pollitt, Eloise Williams, Peggy Rimmer, and Peggy Park were guests at the KD house, last week-end.

A week ago last Wednesday, the Phi Kappa Taus entertained with a rush party-dinner at the Union. Dick Eubanks was in charge of the arrangements. The Phi Taus hope to make it a weekly affair.

The Delta Chi pledge class has elected the following officers: president, William L. Roche, Lexington; vice-president, Marvin Jones, Lexington; secretary, Ike W. Basly, Owensboro; treasurer, Robert O'Mara, Mt. Vernon; sergeant-at-arms, Joe Elmore, Lexington, and social chairman, William Harrison, Owensboro.

The KD actives entertained their pledges with a slumber party last Friday night at the house.

Tuesday night the Sigma Phi Epsilons entertained rushes with a party at the chapter house.

The Kappa Alpha Thetas gave a miscellaneous shower Wednesday at 7 p.m. for Mrs. Walter Meade (Mary Frances Helmick), a recent bride. Louise Jewett was in charge of arrangements for the event.

The Pi Kappa Alphas will celebrate their seventy-eighth Founders Day Monday night, with a banquet at the Phoenix hotel.

The Alpha Xi Delta house will be the scene of a party Monday night, given in honor of rushees. Liz Walters is in charge of the party.

Activities and pledges of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity entertained their dates with an informal party at the chapter house following the Kentucky-Xavier basketball game last Saturday night.

Wildcats Favored To Win 8th S.E.C. Crown

Kentucky Whips St. X 83-40 Setting Modern Records

Wildcats Win 20th Set Scoring Record

By Don B. Towles

The Kentucky Wildcats won their last home game this season and, at the same time, broke several records, Saturday night when they rolled over the St. Xavier quintet, 83-40.

The team set a single game scoring record at Kentucky by marking up 83 points compared to a previous record of 81. Bill Sturgill broke the record for the Kentucky squad when he flashed under the basket with three minutes left in the game to drop in the record-breaking points.

The other record that the Kentucky boys broke was the winning of twenty games in one season. The game was unofficially named "Schu night" in honor of the senior forward and ace rebound man for the 'Cats. Schu was named acting captain at the request of Captain Jack Parkinson. This was also the last game on the home court for substitute Bill Sturgill. Kentucky and Xavier played on equal terms in the first half but Kentucky came back after the intermission to roll up 43 points while holding the Xavier men to nine. The half time score was 40-31, in favor of Kentucky.

Leading the Kentucky scorers was Wallace Jones, who marked up 18 points. Jones made six field goals and six out of a possible seven foul goals. Running a close second was Capt. Jack Parkinson, who tallied 15 points, with Tingle placing third, scoring 10 points.

Although the 'Cats only held a nine-point lead at the half, they never were in any real danger. In the first five minutes of play the SuKy will sponsor a pep rally at 4:20 p.m. Sunday at the Union station to welcome the Wildcat basketball team on its return from the SEC tourney in Louisville.

The University band will lead the rally and all students are urged to welcome the favored 'Cats home.

Wildcats had rung up a 15-6 lead. After the intermission the Xavier men made the first basket, lighting the fuse that started the Ruppmen on the way to the wide margin of victory. The 'Cats made 14 points before the Xavier men scored again.

Intramurals

By Jim Maynard

Intramural basketball came to an end Feb. 23 with Sigma Chi winning the University championship and the Gas House Gang taking runners-up. An all-tournament team has been selected by the intramural officials and referees. Candidates were selected on the basis of sportsmanship, performance, ability, and scoring. Three teams were chosen: an All-Fraternity team, an All-Independent team, and an All-Campus team. The All-Campus team is composed of members of the Fraternity team and the Independent team. Members of the All-Fraternity team are: Bill Cowgill, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, guard; Harry Gorham, Sigma Chi, guard; Wynn Moseley, Sigma Chi, center; Al Reynolds, Kappa Sigma, forward; Jack Denny, Alpha Gamma Rho, forward. Elected to the All-Independent team were: Ryle Curry, Sad Sacks, guard; Rufus Pulliam, Wildcat Manor, guard; Joe Paech, Demons, center; Charles Sullivan, Sad Sacks, forward; Clyde Blackburn, Gas House Gang, forward. Picked for the All-Campus team were: Bill Cowgill, Harry Gorham, Wynn Moseley, Charles Sullivan, and Clyde Blackburn.

With basketball now a thing of the past, intramurals, outdoor sports will soon become active. Tennis (singles and doubles), golf (twosomes and foursomes), and track are slated for the spring quarter.

Volley ball will continue the remainder of this quarter. "Round robin" is now in process and all teams are showing ability and interest. Sig Eps won over Phi Delta Theta and lost to Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Kappa Alpha lost to Alpha Gamma Rho and Phi Delta Theta. Sigma Chi has won 2, Kappa Sigma has won 1, and Delta Tau Delta has won 1. In the Independent league the Red Devils have won 2, Panthers 2, Gas House Gang 1, and Veterans' club 1. All teams will play Monday night. Check intramural bulletin board for schedule.

Because of the recent fire, wrestling and boxing will be carried over to the spring quarter. All the rings and mats were destroyed. The Athletic department has placed an order for mats and rings, but they will not be here in time to use this quarter. Monday, 5 p.m., is the deadline for ping pong entries.

'The Lowe-Down'

By Dick Lowe

Many students and faculty members alike were disappointed when they tried to purchase tickets for the Temple game. Everyone who wanted to see the game and was unable to purchase a ducat has the right to be disappointed but should not go up in arms over the matter.

An announcement was made by the Athletic Department that student and faculty tickets would be on sale Friday and Saturday Feb. 22 and 23. The remainder of the tickets would be placed on sale to the general public the following Monday. Many misinterpreted the statement and thought that the students could buy all that they needed and then the remaining ones would be placed on sale. The statement was misinterpreted also by a Kernel sports writer who reported that all students who wanted a ticket could have one. The impression that the game was scheduled especially for students was erroneous. However, it is not a bad idea.

The straight story is that the ticket department put on sale only 900 which the ticket committee thought sufficient according to past attendance records. Last year at the Notre Dame game only 300 were purchased. For the Temple game the number was tripled, as has the enrollment, but all tickets were sold by noon Friday. Some students were bound to be left out and the only thing for them to do now is to listen to the game on the radio.

The students had the advantage most of the time and were permitted to see the good games that were played on the home court. This game gives the townspeople a chance to see a game. Remember they were students at the University at one time. One day you will be an alum and will want to see a basketball game at your old school.

The ticket department is a business proposition and has to come out in the clear. That was why only 900 tickets were placed on sale. They couldn't be left holding seats that maybe the students wouldn't buy and especially when so many others wanted them.

Time Out!

By O. C. Halyard Jr.

This week's column is dedicated to the 1945-46 Kentucky basketball team. A team that has already outshone all other Wildcat teams coached by Adolph Rupp on at least five points, and may break several other records before they put away their equipment. The regular season is over, but they still have a tough post-season schedule, consisting of the present Southeastern Conference, another game with Temple, and the Madison Square Garden Invitational Basketball tournament. This team may prove to be the best Wildcat quintet ever coached by Adolph Rupp.

The present Wildcat cage team became the first Kentucky aggregation to hand the Michigan State Spartans two defeats in the same season. They beat them in East Lansing 55-44, and then later here in Lexington 59-51.

Led by Captain Jack Parkinson with 263 points, Center Wallace Jones with 215, Guard Ralph Beard with 206 and Forward Jack Tingle with 203, the '45-'46 team is the first to have four players pass the 200 mark during a season.

Then, last Saturday night they set three new records for Rupp teams when they defeated Xavier of Cincinnati here 83-40. The win was number 20 for the 'Cats and marked the first time that a Kentucky squad has chalked up 20 wins in regular season play.

The 83 points pitched through the hoops by the Kentuckians in the game with Xavier set a new individual-game scoring mark. Earlier in the year they hit the 81 mark to tie the previous record, but were unable to surpass it. Finally, their season's total of 1,329 points has become a new scoring record for regular season play. Last year's total of 1,145 had been tops.

UK In N.Y. Tourney

The Kentucky Wildcats, with their count at 20 wins to two losses were the first team to accept a bid to play in the Madison Square Garden Invitational Basketball tournament. The tournament will feature eight of the country's leading teams. Tournament starts March 14, lasting until March 18.

The Wildcats have only to rack up 136 points in their post season and tournament play to surpass the record 1,464 points for all play now held by last year's squad. Three victories in tourney and post-season play will give this year's team an all-time winning record of 23 games. Both of these marks should be achieved in Southeastern Conference play alone.

One of the things that makes all Kentucky teams great is the unselfish way that they work together as a unit. A good example of this type of sportsmanship and co-operation was shown in last Saturday night's game, when Jack Parkinson asked that Wilbur Schu, who was playing his last home game, be made honorary captain of the team for the night. A team made up of that type of players is hard to beat in anybody's league.

The top four men in scoring on the 'Cats' team this year have accounted for a total of 837 points—eight points more than all of their opponents. They have five men who have participated in all 22 games. And the top seven men on the squad have made 1,170 points—25 more than last year's team did during their regular season.

Quarter Finals Today; Cats, LSU Expected To Meet In Finals

By "Scoop"

Kentucky's Wildcats are strong favorites to walk away with their eighth Southeastern Conference crown, their third in succession, when the 13th SEC tournament comes to a close tomorrow night in Louisville.

The powerful Kentucky squad was seeded No. 1 in the pairings, and the conference leading Bengal Tigers of LSU were seeded second. Kentucky's old rival, Tennessee, was placed third and in the same bracket with the 'Cats. Fourth-seeded Georgia Tech is in the upper bracket.

The upper bracket featured a game between the state-rivals, Georgia Tech and Georgia and LSU and their top rival, Tulane yesterday. Mississippi State and Ole Miss drew byes and automatically advanced to the quarter-finals today.

Tennessee and Vanderbilt opened up the lower bracket play and Kentucky and Auburn met in the late game. Alabama and Florida drew the other two byes thus advancing to the quarter finals.

Today's game will pit the Georgia Tech winner against weaker Mississippi State, while Mississippi goes up against the LSU-Tulane winner. The night games bring together the winner of the Tennessee-Vandy game and the Crimson Tide in what could prove to be the leading game of the day. The Kentucky-Auburn winner should have little trouble disposing of Florida.

If the games go according to most predictions Georgia Tech should meet LSU in the first game of the semi-finals Saturday morning. The second morning game should feature another Kentucky-Tennessee tilt. And the final Saturday night should see the LSU squad tangle with the Kentucky Wildcats, with Kentucky coming out on top in spite of their tougher morning game.

Balitsaris Appointed

Coach Paul Bryant announces the appointment of Mike Balitsaris, recently discharged Navy athletic specialist, as an assistant football coach at Kentucky.

Balitsaris was an All-SEC end in football and All-SEC guard in basketball in his senior year at the University of Tennessee, where he won letters in both sports from 1939 through 1941. He was a member of the Tennessee Rose Bowl team in 1939 and the Tennessee Sugar Bowl team in 1940. He also was a member of the Tennessee championship basketball team in 1941.

The former Tennessee star coached at St. Petersburg, Fla., high school in 1942 and Central high school of Knoxville, Tenn., in 1943. He entered the Navy as an enlisted man in 1944 and received his discharge Feb. 7, 1946. He coached the Norfolk Navy Air Station team last season.

His wife, the former Mary Elizabeth Bomar of Louisville, and their two children, Mike Jr., and Diane Elizabeth, will come to Lexington just as soon as Balitsaris can find a place for them to live. The assistant coach reported for duty at the University Feb. 23, in time to witness the first "rough" scrimmage of Kentucky's spring football practice.

Backs showing the most promise and greatest speed are Don (Dopey) Phelps of Danville, Ky., a freshman, and Bill Chambers, Huntington, W.

Va., holdover from last season's team. Fastest linemen are Robert Green of Shelbyville, Ky., a brother of All-American Johnny Green of Army; Jay Rhodemyre of Ashland, Ky., returned service man, and Dick Hensley, Williamson, W. Va., sophomore end.

During a locker-room conversation, Coach Bryant said he expected Phelps, who starred last year for Danville high school, "to make a good back some day."
